Copyright Policy

It is the policy of this school to encourage teachers to be creative and innovative. Therefore, the superintendent or their designee may enter into a written agreement with a teacher allowing the teacher to own a copyright in a written work created by the teacher in their scope of employment. The administrator and teacher shall only enter into such an agreement if the written work was created apart from, and in addition to, what the district requires and if the district will not incur an expense to replace the work.
